

Containers on demand

Find containers, reduce manual workflow and grow your network in container logistics.

The leading online platform in container logistics

600+ freight forwarders, NVOCCs, container traders, carriers and leasing companies use xChange to buy, sell and lease containers.

Do you regularly use SOCs?

Do you have your own containers?

Do you lease units e.g, for one-way moves?

If you've answered one of these questions with "yes", xChange is for you!

We're connecting global container logistics

The container is the single biggest innovation in logistics of the last century and has revolutionized not only an entire industry but also changed the way we live and do business. It has helped to massively decrease freight costs — and has fueled an unprecedented increase in global trade, output and welfare.

However, while this iron box itself is simple, standardized and efficient; using and owning containers is an operational nightmare. Market transparency is limited, trust along the value chain is low and most processes are manual and error prone.

Our mission is to change this — by providing a neutral platform for container owners and users to collaborate easily and efficiently. We're here to connect global container logistics to take the hassle out of owning and transporting container equipment.

WALLET

Payment handling automated and safe

xChanges saves you the time-consuming, error-prone manual work and frees up your resources. Whether it be payment handling, contracting or adding insurance, the platform automates these tasks for you and only sends notifications when something has to be done.

"I like the interactivity, user friendliness and service that is provided by the platform and the entire xChange team."

The screenshot displays the 'WALLET' interface. At the top, the 'Current account balance' is $39,789.10. To the right, there's a 'Latest Invoices' section with a 'View all invoices' link. Below the balance, there's a 'Statements for April 2020' section with a list of transactions: Opening balance, Credits earned, Charges payed, Payouts and Transfers, and Pending credits. A modal window titled 'Per diems for April 2020' is open, showing a table with columns: Type, Request, Release, Container ID, Partner, Pick-up Date, Freedays, Drop-off Date, and Billing Days. The table contains four rows of data, alternating between Credits and Charges. Below the modal, there's a summary table for April 2020 with columns: Type, Description, Date, and Amount.

CONTAINER TRACKING

Receive tracking alerts in real-time

Monitor all your one-way container moves on a real-time dashboard! Receive container status updates and tracking alerts, such as ETAs or misuse warnings, and only focus your time on the containers that really need your attention.

"xChange Tracking enables us to gain trust from our customers, make corresponding decision in a timely manner and ultimately help our customers save money."

The screenshot displays a 'Container tracking details' window with a progress bar and a table of container information. Two callout boxes provide specific alerts: one for an ETA in 7 days and another for a container reported as off-hired in the correct location.
