MBS Logistics to become part of AD Ports Group – our collaboration continues unchanged

Cologne, 18.05.2026

Dear Sir or Madam,
Dear Business Partners,

We would like to personally inform you of an important next step in the development of MBS Logistics:

MBS Logistics is to be acquired by Noatum Logistics, part of AD Ports Group. The corresponding acquisition agreement was signed on 18 May 2026.

Before we go into further detail, one thing matters most: for you as our partner, everything continues exactly as it is today.

At the same time, this step lays the foundation for additional opportunities going forward. Your contacts, our teams and our established processes remain unchanged, and all contracts, commercial terms and service levels continue as agreed. You will continue to work with us just as you always have – with the same reliability, quality and partnership you expect from MBS.

Until completion of the transaction, we will continue to operate independently. The signing marks the first step. Subject to customary regulatory approvals, closing is expected in the second half of 2026. Until then, MBS Logistics and Noatum Logistics will operate fully independently of one another. For you, this means our day-to-day collaboration will continue without interruption.

Why are we taking this step?

The demands on modern logistics are increasing. Global supply chains are becoming more complex, markets more dynamic, and customers rightly expect more integrated solutions, broader international reach and greater resilience.

MBS has grown successfully over many years, driven by entrepreneurial thinking, close customer relationships and a strong team. From this position of strength, we are now taking the next step. With Noatum Logistics and AD Ports Group, we have found a partner that is both a strong strategic fit and closely aligned with our way of doing business. We share a clear understanding of logistics as a service business, where trust, speed and solution expertise are what truly matter.

The Logistics Cluster of AD Ports Group is led by Jochen Thewes, one of the most experienced leaders in the global logistics industry and former CEO of DB Schenker. He and his team have a strong understanding of both the market and our organisation and see MBS as a company with clear strengths and significant potential.

Stronger together, going further.

Following completion, we will gradually explore opportunities for closer collaboration with Noatum Logistics, with the aim of creating tangible added value through an expanded range of services. We will keep you fully informed of next steps and specific initiatives as we move forward.

For you, nothing changes in essence: your usual contacts remain in place, and the trusted, long-standing collaboration we share continues to be at the core of our partnership. At the same time, our opportunities to work together will expand over time. We will keep you closely informed and reach out proactively as developments take shape.

If you have any questions, your usual contacts, as well as our management team, are available to you at any time.

We are taking this step with full confidence and a clear view of the future, and we very much look forward to shaping the next chapter together with you.

We would like to sincerely thank you for your trust in MBS Logistics and for the pleasant collaboration. We truly value our partnership and look forward to continuing this successful journey together with you in the future.

Yours sincerely,
